Dear Ms. Ji-li Jiang:

How are you? With your generous help and kind care, I am a happy and healthy fourth grader now. I love reading. I haven't spent any money for snacks in this year, but bought some books with my own money though some recycling work I did. I remember a story. A long, long time ago, there was an old wise man. He told his son before he died, that he had put a pair of golden wings in one of his many books. After his death, his son tried to find the treasure. He went through all his father's books, but couldn't find the wings. But during the process, he had gained a lot of knowledge from the books. He felt he was traveling around the world. Finally he realized the books were the golden wings he had been searching. I was very moved by the story. Now I am really into reading. I have read Five Thousand Years History of China, A Hundred Thousand of "Whys," Red Rock, Monkey King, Animal World, and other poetry. Not only have I learned a lot of knowledge from the books, they have also broadened my view of the world, and helped me to understand the value of life, and what I should do to my life. Through those books, and your generous help, I have learned the love existing in the world. I hope when I grow up, I will be a good person to our society and our country, be someone who will help the needy ones. I will carry on the love you gave to me and bring happiness and health to others. Dear Ms. Jiang, trust me, I will not let you down. Thank you for your trust and support.

Solute!
